JUDGE:

STAT With regard to your question of who should attend the September 21st
STAT Bicentennial meeting at the National Archives, I have coordinated this matter STAT with [redacted] Executive Assistant to the DDA. We have both agreed that this matter belongs with the DI, specifically the Historical Intelligence Collection (HIC). [redacted] the curator, will be attending the September 21st meeting. The HIC office has been responsible for the Agency's two displays to commemorate both the Constitution and the Bill of Rights and is interested and anxious to participate on behalf of the Agency. Thanks.

Dear Judge Webster ,

As you know, this year Americans celebrated the Bicentennials of both the legislative and executive branches of government. Coming up during 1990-91 are the 200th anniversaries of the federal Judiciary and of our Bill of Rights.

These further commemorations will provide us with an opportunity to encourage government workers and all Americans to learn more about their Constitution and their rights and responsibilities under it. We have a continuing opportunity, one I hope we do not forfeit.

Congress created this Commission to coordinate and promote activities, over five years, to commemorate the Bicentennial of the U.S. Constitution. In 1987 we celebrated the writing and signing of the Constitution. During 1988 we marked the Ratification of the document. This year and the next two will be devoted to the Constitution's implementation.

Over the past three years federal departments and agencies have been active participants in the national Bicentennial commemoration by providing educational programs for employees, such as the "brown bag program" that features a lunchtime speaker at the agency.

We encourage your agency to continue to play an active role in Bicentennial activities and programs. In order to assist you we have scheduled a meeting of federal agency Bicentennial representatives for September 21 at the auditorium of the National Archives. The meeting will start at 9:30 a.m. and last for one hour only. During the meeting we will provide your staff with background on the Bicentennial, and will take a look at possible future programs for federal agencies during the important Bill of Rights and Judiciary Bicentennials.

We would be most appreciative if you would designate an official representative to attend this meeting and to serve as your liaison with our Commission during the last two years of the Constitution's Bicentennial. Please have your new representative contact my staff as soon as possible c/o:

Mr. Bobby McMeans
Associate Director, Federal Programs
Commission on the Bicentennial of the United States Constitution
808 17th Street, NW.
Washington, D.C. 20006

Telephone: (202) 653-7456 or 653-9808

Thank you for your interest and support. We look forward to working with you during the remaining years of the Bicentennial.

Cordially,
